

A typical week at Mill Little Farm

Christine feeds the animals and milks the goats at around 8.00am every morning - students may help if they wish, or go for an early morning jog, cycle, stroll along the river or lie in bed!

After breakfast, lessons begin at 9.30am.(Monday-Friday). Christine is the main tutor. However, when there are 6 students, additional teachers, Julia and Jane, enable smaller teaching groups and can offer even more individual support.

Lunch is at 1.00pm and on two afternoons students help in the garden or around the house.

Tuesday afternoon is the weekly visit to the local town, Bantry for shopping etc!

On Thursday afternoon Christine and Linda accompany the students on an excursion often visiting the coast with walks along cliff tops and sandy beaches!

Dinner is around 7.00pm and students help with the preparation of meals, mainly vegetarian with home-grown produce when available! After dinner there's time to watch a film, listen to some music visit a local pub.....and sleep!

Friday afternoons and the weekends are free for students to do as they wish; study, relax and read a book, play badminton or volleyball in the garden, swim in the river, go on walking or cycling tours or even hire a car if they wish to go further afield.

Students live in a beautiful house by a pond where they can feel totally at home, each having their own room but with shared living room and kitchen. English is spoken at all times so there is plenty of 'real' learning going on outside of the 15 hours tuition per week!!
